Looking back a few years' feels like a nightmare, because Mother Helpage Worldwide has risen to such great heights which none of us would ever have believed. Starting as a small organisation from a township in Indian- administered Kashmir and then to see it as a member of the UN department of public information is more than satisfying as it measures the outcome of the hard work of all the Mother Helpage Worldwide family across the globe.

Mother Helpage Worldwide definitely placed itself in front of others in terms of the following:

- 1- Specialised skills for disaster response
- 2- Training for disaster preparedness across the globe
- 3- Innovations in emergency relief
- 4- Global safe water programme

5- Advocacy for humanitarian crisis

Mother Helpage never tried to duplicate the work of other charities and every time focused to place its own bench mark. This uniqueness has proved productive and many world renowned organizations have joined with Mother Helpage Worldwide for carrying out the humanitarian mission.

Mother Helpage does not only focus on emergency relief operations but has started a training facility in the UK to provide training for its overseas staff and other international humanitarians. The aim of this training facility is to induce skills in our staff so that they can in turn help their local people about disaster response which in turn will make their respective communities disaster resilient and knowledgeable. Mother Helpage's main aim is to become a pioneer in disaster response and emergency relief

Our community development programme is also a key factor in the growth of Mother Helpage as this programme provided us with the opportunity to erase all the racial, religious or material partitions which lead this world towards an undefined and unpleasant place.

The global water aid enables us to reach hundreds and thousands each year in Africa, Asia etc and in return has given us great satisfaction to see people benefitting.

We are now introducing a new concept of G-DRU (Global Disaster Response Unit), which will comprise of our trained volunteers across the globe who will be responsible for carrying out emergency operations on behalf of Mother Helpage Worldwide. We are also making improvements in our communications for disaster response as we have hired engineers who will set up new communication systems during times of crisis and disasters.

Lastly, I would like to mention that Mother Helpage Worldwide has now entered a new era in the service of humanity in which our approach must be of sheer professionalism-innovative, unbiased and clearly definable. We must look forward for a social change and fight for social justice. We need to aim and devise new strategies for bringing real and lasting changes in the lives of people. We should try to balance our commitment to our reputation and our defined mission and policies. All our energy must be channeled to deliver the services with our professional promises and skills and we must target our services where they will be recognised by the world.

May Almighty guide us to serve His creation.

Regards

The failure to provide safe drinking water and adequate sanitation services to all people is perhaps the greatest development failure of the 20th century. The most egregious consequence of this failure is the high rate of mortality from preventable water-related diseases. If no action is taken to address unmet basic human needs for water, as many as 135 million people could die from these diseases by 2020. Even if the explicit Millennium Goals announced by the United Nations in 2000 are achieved, unlikely given current international commitments, between 34 and 76 million people could perish from water related diseases by 2020.

Mother Helpage Worldwide has stood up to this challenge and has so far installed more than 7000 water sources in Niger, Mali, Sudan, Pakistan, Kashmir, India, Srilanka, Nepal and Indonesia. Mother Helpage in addition to this also has constructed hundreds of sanitation units in order to protect the sanity of females, the old and the environment.

Every year Mother Helpage conducts Ramadhan & Qurbani programmes in almost 20 countries, thus helping hundreds and thousands by providing food parcels and Qurbani (animal sacrifice) meat. Mother Helpage not only fulfills the religious obligations but also carry the awareness programmes about malnutrition and safer health.

We support partner organizations' advocacy for policy and legislative change both at national and International level. We aim to raise awareness and understanding in an international forum through available communication tools such as our website, as well as hosting events for activists, policymakers, media, and the public. Mother Helpage Worldwide is working on International fronts to support basic human needs in order to provide security and surety to the communities and the world.
